

Lynda Lander

Associate Advisor

ABOUT

Having grown up in Texas, Lynda has that southern hospitality that you often hear about. She is caring, has a passion to help others and is never afraid to learn a new skill.

She finds a way to connect with people and gives honest opinions. She offers helpful information that relates to what is requested, explains what isn't understood and leaves out what isn't needed. Her light-heartedness and humor makes for fun and meaningful conversations.

Lynda joined the firm in 2017 after relocating to Upstate New York from Texas. Her upbringing taught her the importance of having a great work ethic. This was one of the driving forces for her to become a first generation college graduate. While attending Texas Tech University pursuing a degree in Personal Financial Planning, she was working full time in a pharmacy as a Certified Pharmacy Technician. Lynda brings a great work ethic, attention to detail as well as experience in the pharmaceutical industry to clients and the Team at JGUA. In her free time, she likes to hang out with friends and family, her dog, Abby, and is learning the skill of photography.
