ABOUT

Adam Oreiby is an accomplished banking professional with over 15 years of experience in the financial industry. Currently serving as Regional Manager, Relationship Development at JGUA, where he leads the firm's efforts in widening the client base in North Carolina and neighboring markets.

Adam Oreiby began his career as an international settlement specialist at Goldman Sachs and Morgan Stanley Bank in Zurich, Switzerland, where he gained invaluable experience in middle office and operations. He ultimately transitioned to becoming a Forex Trader and Money Market Manager at ABN AMRO Bank, Switzerland, and subsequently was charged to lead the efforts of several Swiss Asset Management firms and Swiss banking institutions in exploring and positioning themselves in new markets in MENA (Middle East & North Africa). Adam has executed projects in many countries around the globe such as Switzerland, Germany, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Russia, and Ukraine to name a few.

Over the years, Adam has developed a deep understanding of banking operations, trading, and the alternative investments space. In business development, Adam has played a pivotal role in launching several successful initiatives through joint ventures between European firms and like-minded investors in the Gulf region. His strategic insight has helped drive revenue growth and expand market share for the institutions he has worked with.

Adam holds a Post Graduate Diploma in Law and a Master in Laws (LLM) from the University of London. He also holds a professional Fintech Certificate from Hong Kong University in addition to several FINRA licenses. Currently, he is a Law and Policy, Ph.D. candidate at Northeastern University. Outside of his professional and academic life, Adam is passionate about cooking, exercising, and enjoying quality time with his two daughters.
